

RIOTS RENEWED IN LONDONDERRY AFTER KILLING

Five Policemen are Shot and Shops and Other Property of Sinn Feiners Wrecked

UNIONIST AND SINN FEIN MOBS BATTLE IN BELFAST

Two Dublin Civilians Shot in Attack on Policemen

BELFAST.—Wild scenes were witnessed in Londonderry Saturday night as a result of a sudden attack on the police there. Five policemen were shot, two of them so seriously that they may die; two shops were burned and several others were wrecked. All the property attacked belonged to Sinn Feiners.

The attack on the policemen was directed against the officers who were guarding the custom house, and a brisk exchange of shots followed.

Shoppers flee for safety

The attack occurred at 9 o'clock in a busy neighborhood, and so terrified the crowds of shoppers that they fled in a panic.

Afterwards the police and the military raided a large section of the city holding up and searching every one they found outdoors at刀dinvading and searching numerous houses.

Late in the evening a hostile crowd assembled in Waterloo square, a Sinn Fein thoroughfare, and had to be dispersed by the military. Even after the curfew hour there was almost continual gunfire and rifle fire for two hours with occasional sounds like explosions of bombs.

Reprisals by Armed Men

A number of armed men passed along William street, smashing show windows with the butt ends of rifles, destroying the lamps on the electric standards by rifle fire, and plunging the whole street into darkness. Two premises were set on fire, one being a garage, which was destroyed. A number of houses were burned to death and the motors in the garage reduced to scrap.

Many persons left their houses and spent the night in distant parts of the city.

Two wounded policemen were found lying in Boyle street.

Firemen Call on Troops

A fire brigade called to fires in William street had a thrilling experience. Before starting the firemen appealed to the military for aid and a number of soldiers traveled on the engines. On their way rifle fire was opened upon them from both sides of the main. The soldiers returned the fire and two men were seen to fall.

To escape the fusillade the engines took a circuitous route and called at the military barracks to get more soldiers before proceeding.

The official report of the disorders says that three constables in plain clothes received severe gunshot wounds. It is believed, from the military escorting the fire brigade, that the two constables who belonged to a member of the Londonderry corporation.

Boys of Night Riding

An attempt of the night's rioting occurred Sunday afternoon.

The disorders, which were confined to a limited area, started in North Belfast. The rioting spread, being the network of streets between Clifton street and Old Lodge road, known as the Sandown area, which has figured in every disturbance since July. Sinn Fein and the Unionists with stones and the Sinn Feiners with revolvers and rifles.

A large body of police made repeated charges to keep the riotous area quiet until the arrival of military with an armored car, when the rioters were dispersed.

A laborer was shot dead in Cork by a military car when patrol last night.

SUPREME COURT PUNCTURES HOME STORAGE RESTRICTION OF PROHIBITION MEASURE

WASHINGTON.—Liquor lawfully acquired by a person for his personal use may be stored in a place other than his home under a ruling today by the supreme court.

The court's decision was on an appeal brought by William G. Street of New York city, from lower court decrees refusing an injunction prohibiting federal prohibition officers from seizing liquor which he had stored in a room, leased from a safe deposit company. The court declared Congress did not intend to prohibit such storage when the liquor was lawfully acquired for a lawful purpose.

Can Carry it Home

Justice Clarke held that the transportation of lawfully acquired liquor from a warehouse to the home of the owner did not constitute "transportation" within the meaning of the enforcement act.

The question presented, Mr. Clarke said, was simply "May a warehousing corporation lawfully permit to be stored in its warehouse, after the effective date of the Volstead act, liquors admitted to have been lawfully acquired before that date and which are so stored, solely and in good faith for the purpose of protecting them until they shall be consumed by the owner and his family or bona fide guests?"

After answering the question in the affirmative, Justice Clarke declared the court could not bring itself to the conclusion that such retention of the liquor on the part of the storage company constituted "possession" within the meaning of the section under consideration, nor would the transportation of such stores to the legal residence of the owner from the warehouse constitute "transportation" under the act.

Deliberately Omitted

The opinion suggested that Congress might have inadvertently omitted having declared such storage unlawful, but regarded it as more probable that the framers of the law had deliberately left this means of preserving lawful stores of liquor to those not possessing commodious dwellings.

DIG FOR DEER TO UNCOVER BODY OF MURDERED RUNNER

Two Confess Killing of Camden, N. J., Bank Messenger Carrying $95,000

CRIME UNCOVERED BY FARMERS FINDING GRAVE

Exhume Body Looking for Deer Buried by Illegal Hunter

CAMDEN, N. J.—Camden county police officials will claim jurisdiction in the case of the murder of David S. Paul, the Camden bank runner, who, according to the police, was killed by Frank J. James and Raymond W. Schuck of this city.

Both James and Schuck, it was announced by the police, have confessed their implication in the killing of Paul. They are in jail at Mount Holly, Burlington county, in which jurisdiction the body of Paul was found. According to the alleged confessions the bank runner was killed in Camden county.

In the alleged confessions James and Schuck accuse each other of killing Paul. Paul, who was on his way to a Philadelphia bank with $95,000 in cash and checks, had been invited to ride to the ferry in James' automobile. He was sitting on the head and reared unconsciously when he was struck a death blow.

The body, according to the alleged confessions, was hidden in a creek in Burlington county, and nine days later the two men returned and dug a grave and buried it. Schuck's confession said he and James hurried their work and did not dig the grave deep enough, leaving a mound where the body was covered over. It was this mound that a party of farmers, out hunting, saw and thinking someone had buried a deer, dug it open and revealed the murder.

Schuck, the police say, told where the money was buried, and most of $65,000 in cash was found hidden in Evergreen cemetery here.

ANDERSON BEGINS PROBE OF PALMER'S HAMSTRING CASE

Calls Dan Simms, Prosecutor Who Resigned Because of Suppression of Evidence

CONSPIRACY CASE PUT OVER AT REQUEST OF GOVERNMENT

Illinois Defendants Lose Fight to Prevent Their Arrest

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—At the request of the government the conspiracy case against 125 soft coal miners and operators of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania was continued when called in the United States district court of Judge A. B. Anderson, Monday morning.

Simms First Witness

Judge Anderson immediately started upon his investigation of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer's connection in the case, at one time declaring "I'm going to find out whether the attorney general can ham-string a case in this court." Dan W. Simms of Lafayette, Ind., who recently resigned as special assistant district attorney in the case, was the first witness called in the investigation.

The government based its plea for a continuance on the fact that not all of the defendants had been brought within the jurisdiction of the federal district court for Indiana and also on the resignation of Mr. Simms, who, following his resignation, declared his action was due to instructions from Mr. Palmer that certain evidence be not used.

"These instructions," Mr. Simms stated, "literally cut the heart out of the case."

Denies Evidence Agreement

Mr. Simms, in testifying today in the investigation, declared no agreement of any sort had been made by the attorney general or anyone else either in the presence of Judge Anderson or out of it in regard to the evidence to be used. He stated that he had conferred with both Mr. Palmer and Judge C. E. Ames, assistant attorney general, after the indictments were returned, and that both had complimented him on his work.

Judge Anderson asked if Mr. Simms had been confronted with any moves by the department of justice indicating a lack of co-operation and the witness replied: "We have." The court then asserted: "I'm going to find out whether the attorney general can ham-string a case in this court," and the examination of Mr. Simms continued.

Defendants Must Appear

PROBATION.—Defendants in the coal conspiracy criminal cases in the United States court at Indianapolis today lost their case in the federal court here in which they sought to enjoin officers of the government from removing and prosecuting them at Indianapolis on the ground that the act is unconstitutional and void and that the attorney general and district attorneys are acting within their powers. They also held that the statute is aimed at all conspiracies to enhance the price of coal within or without the coal industry.

The case was argued in Springfield a few weeks ago.

The decision affects twelve cases in which the government is prosecuting coal operators, where Rice Miller and Herman C. Perry, two of the Indianapolis defendants, are affected, holding that Section 9 of the act is unconstitutional and void and that the attorney general and district attorneys are acting within their powers. They also held that the statute is aimed at all conspiracies to enhance the price of coal within or without the coal industry.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESS TO MAKE SHARP FIGHT UPON DEMOCRATIC FISCAL BILLS

HARDING NOT TO MEET OBREGON ON VISIT TO BORDER

President-Elect Denies Newspaper Rumor that He Will See New Mexican Chief

DECLARES HE WILL SPEND TIME ONLY IN RECREATION

Refuses to Meet Delegates of Foreign Nations

ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S TRAIN.—President-elect Harding was given an ovation by Texas, and he issued a statement denying he had knowledge of a planned meeting between himself and General Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, on the border.

Coming to Texas for a vacation after the trying requirements of his campaign, President-elect Harding declared Monday he was determined to put the thoughts of his coming responsibilities out of his mind and to give himself over for the next two weeks to rest and recreation.

From the time of his arrival at Point Isabel, a remote village on the Southern Texas coast, he was ready to plunge unreservedly into the swing of a vacation. A morning's fishing expedition and an afternoon on the golf links were to constitute his routine virtually every day of his visit.

Close to the Border

The fact that Point Isabel lies only six miles from the Mexican border, has given rise to many whisperings of possible conferences between the new president-elect and representatives of the new regime in Mexico, but those closest to Mr. Harding were inclined to throw cold water on such reports. Mr. Harding himself said today no such conferences were "in prospect" and he had heard them only in newspaper speculation.

The same attitude was taken by the president-elect toward published suggestions that he might begin, before his inauguration, informal conversations with European governments regarding the formulation of an association of nations. Not only does he want his vacation undisturbed, but he has said in public utterances that he desired to have no negotiations with foreign agents until he actually had come into authority.

Still Harmed From Action

The delicacy of Mr. Harding's position in that regard has been pointed out more than once by those closely associated with him. Elected to be president by an overwhelming majority after proposing many changes in the nation's foreign policy, he naturally is looked to by foreign governments to take the proper steps to put these changes into effect. It is understood that several men representing themselves, either truly or falsely, as the spokesmen of foreign statesmen, attempted to gain interviews with Mr. Harding at Point Isabel before his election, but his headquarters officials say all of them were turned away.

WRANGLER FORTIFIES ISTHMUS OF CRIMEA IN EAST STAND AGAINST THE BOLSHEVIKI

GRAND JURY HERE TO PROBE LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN STATE

Interesting Term of Court Promised When Judge Landis Comes to La Crosse

TWENTY RECENTLY ARRESTED TO BE ARRAIGNED BEFORE HIM

Trials to Start after Thanksgiving in Federal Court

A complete investigation in Wisconsin of recent flagrant violations of the national prohibition amendment alleged by federal agents is expected to begin Nov. 16 when Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis, Chicago, opens a grand jury session at La Crosse.

Owing to the severity with which the famous federal judge has been dealing in Chicago with bootleggers, liquor traffickers in the state are reported to be scurrying to get under cover.

Full light probably will be thrown on illicit liquor trafficking as reported to have been going unchecked between Milwaukee and other parts of the state, and which recently resulted in the shooting of alleged "hoose runners" at Hurley and a moonshiner at Parahoo by prohibition enforcement officers.

More than a score of men arrested recently by U. S. Marshal Frank O'Connor and his deputies will be taken before Judge Landis.

Two weeks after the grand jury meets, Judge Landis will preside over petit and trial juries at La Crosse on Nov. 10.

DEFEAT OF WHITE ARMY GREAT AID TO REDS IN ISLAM

Reported that Bolsheviki Now Have Practically Complete Control of Armenia

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Russian anti-bolshevik forces under command of General Baron Wrangel still safely hold Erevan and Salvoke, keys to the isthmus leading from Crimea to the mainland of Russia. Military observers declare General Wrangel has many long range 10 and 12 inch guns, as well as other heavy pieces planted to protect his lines from the bolsheviks, who are concentrating their artillery forces. Along the seven-mile system General Wrangel has established elaborate barbed wire entanglements. It is believed probable the campaign during the next few weeks will be restricted to artillery battles, unless General Wrangel decides to attack the bolsheviks.

It is recognized General Wrangel's withdrawal to Crimea from Taurida has created bad moral and political effects. Moscow is spreading news of his defeat throughout Islam, and the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor talk of awaiting the results of the coming winter before treating with the allies. Events in India are being watched with particular interest by the nationalists.

The impending winter is dreaded in Crimea where two million people, with only limited food, little clothing and virtually no money, have gathered. A dollar is worth 50,000 rubles at present in Sebastopol.

Reds Control Armenia

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Armenia is passing under bolshevik control, it is said in reports from Tiflis. Turks and bolshevik forces have effected a junction at Alexandropol, and it is probable the city of Erivan has been occupied by Turkish troops commanded by Kazim Karabekir Pasha.

Armenian troops are reported surrendering or seeking refuge in Georgia.

The Russian bolsheviks, Sebastopol reports say, are sending units from three armies now in the Crimean region to Baku and Trans-Caucasia for the purpose, it is declared, to give the troops a period for rest, and to arrange for a distribution of forces in the Asiatic campaign.

Germans Aid Lithuanians

WARSAW.—By The Associated Press.—Poland has been rescued from the Lithuanian troops and the Polish "volunteers" army commanded by General Zelinski. An official statement from General Zelinski's headquarters declares the Lithuanians, without replying to a proposal for negotiations, attacked the Polish near Grodno, and the Lithuanians with their light artillery, sending heavy artillery thither by rail.

AMERICAN LEGION BACKS SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN

Local Organization to Aid in Raising $7,500 for Worthy Cause Here

At a meeting Saturday night the American Legion endorsed the campaign to raise $7,500 for the Salvation Army in La Crosse county, and adopted a resolution providing for a special committee to co-operate with state authorities in obtaining the required subscriptions here.

Ex-servicemen are keenly appreciative of the splendid work done by the Salvation Army during the war, and are anxious to aid in raising the money desired to establish a maternity home in the state and maintain the home service work of the organization.

Detailed plans of the Salvation Army campaign will be announced this week.

RADICALS CELEBRATE REVOLT ANNIVERSARY

BERLIN.—The left wing independent socialists joined the German communists on Sunday in commemorating the anniversary of the Russian revolution. The demonstration brought a crowd of 15,000 to the Lustgarten, opposite the former imperial palace, where the orators lauded a world revolution, and the demonstrators cheered for the third international. The demonstration passed off in an orderly manner.

ADMINISTRATION NOW DRAWING UP MONEY ESTIMATES

Expected Many of the Measures Will be Left for Special Session After March 4

BIG FIGHT PROMISED ON NAVAL APPROPRIATION

Daniels Expected to Ask Huge Sum for Enlarging the Fleet

WASHINGTON.—(By The Associated Press.)—Estimates upon which congress will make appropriations for the first fiscal year of the new republican administration are being prepared by the various departments under the direction of democratic cabinet officers and in accord with the policies of the Wilson administration.

The estimates will be submitted to congress at the opening of the next session on December 6. Since the republicans have a majority in both the senate and house sharp changes are expected to be made in most of the estimates.

The present congressional situation with regard to the annual appropriations is similar to that which obtained eight years ago after the first election of Woodrow Wilson, but at that time conditions in the nation and the world generally were normal and government expenditures were only a fourth of what they are at this time.

Daniels Wants Big Navy

The forthcoming estimates for the war department will be based upon the requirements of an army the size of which already has been fixed by the republican congress, but the naval estimates to be submitted next month will be based on the democratic program. Secretary Daniels has repeatedly said that unless the United States became a member of the league of nations it must maintain the most powerful navy in the world.

Under the program authorized in 1916 the government is constructing five great battle cruisers and more than that number of super-dreadnoughts and the forthcoming naval estimate is expected not only to include funds for carrying on this work but also recommendations for additional war craft.

Estimates for all of the government departments are expected to exceed four billions of dollars, this total including amounts for refunding portions of the public debt falling due during the next fiscal year. The estimates for the present fiscal year exceeded six billion dollars, but these subsequently were reduced by something like two billion dollars.

Plan Special Session

Whether all of the annual supply measures will be completed at the next session remains to be determined. President-elect Harding is expected to call a special session of the new congress soon after he takes office on March 4 and it may be that some of the appropriation bills will go over to the special session.

Merke, whose body was torn and broken under the heavy wheels, was hurried to Emergency hospital in a police ambulance. He died ten minutes later.

Harry Wussow, the driver and witnesses told police that Merke was standing at the curb when suddenly he threw himself into the street, directly into the path of the truck. Police are investigating the affair.

WINONA GAS RATE TO BE TWO FIFTEEN REPORT DECLARES

New Schedule Recommended
Calls for Ten Cents More than La Crosse Rate

Winona gas users may be charged a rate of $2.15 per 1,000 cubic feet if the order filed by Special Master in Chancery Edward S. Abbott at St. Paul is allowed to stand. The city of Winona and the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company have 10 days in which to file exceptions to the order of the special master to whom Federal Judge Wilbur F. Booth referred the gas rate controversy for investigation. If no exceptions are made the order, it is said, will become binding as a decree of the federal court.

The rate the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company is allowed to charge under the order is ten cents higher than the rate of $2.05 recently allowed to be charged by the same company in La Crosse by order of the Wisconsin railway commission.

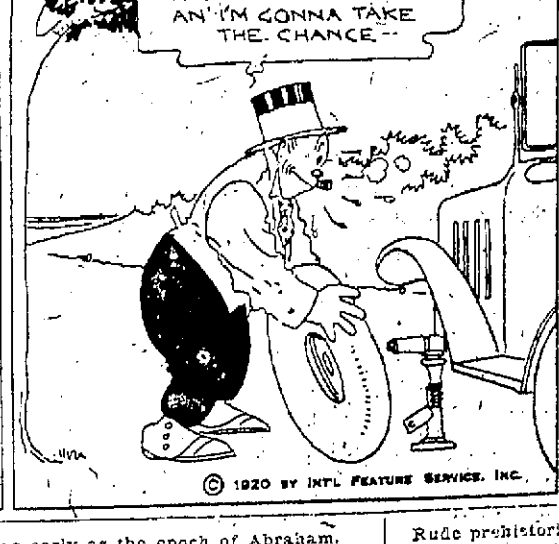

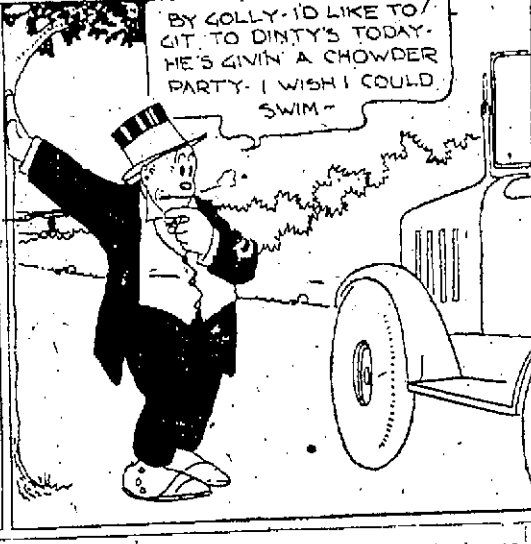

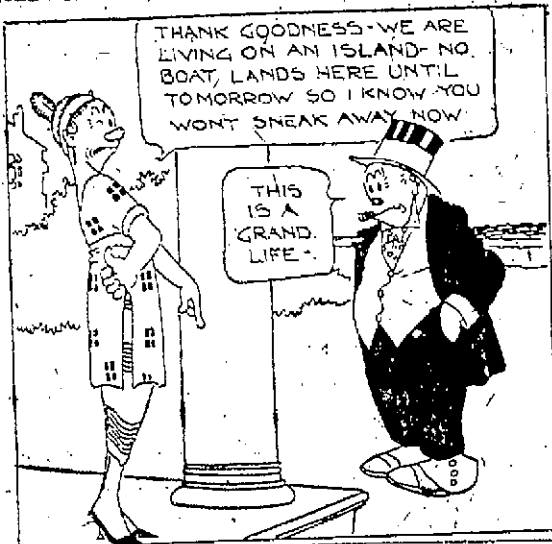

The order filed in St. Paul brings to a close a long drawn out controversy which started last winter when the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company undertook to advance the gas rate in Winona from a maximum of $1.45 per 1,000 cubic feet to $2. The city council of Winona sought a temporary injunction to restrain the company from putting the new rate into effect. Judge Wilbur F. Booth last spring, when he refused to grant the city the temporary injunction set the temporary existing rate of $1.65 which should be in force until a permanent decision as to the reasonableness of the gas rate to be charged in Winona should be determined. He appointed Howard S. Abbott special master in chancery to conduct an investigation and arrive at a decision.

This hearing before Mr. Abbott was started on August 11 and the taking of testimony was concluded September 23. The city of Winona was then given time to file a brief and the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company time to reply. When the reply from the gas company was received the brief asked that the company be allowed to take a charge of $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet for gas instead of the $2 asked when the case was begun. Maintaining that between last February, when the $2 rate was asked, and the month of October, the price of coal had advanced materially and that in other ways it cost more to manufacture gas than when the $2 rate was asked.

WOMEN OF TOMAH DOUBLE TOWN VOTE; BALLOTS EXHAUSTED

TOMAH, Wis.—This city cast 1,549 votes in the election held on November 2. This number is almost double the largest vote of $800 ever before cast, showing that the women of Tomah availed themselves fully of their new privilege. Election officials evidently did not anticipate so large a women's vote and did not provide a sufficient number of ballots. The shortage was supplied by borrowing from nearby precincts, where there was a surplus of ballots. A similar shortage occurred in various rural precincts scattered throughout Monroe county.

The closely contested election of district attorney for Monroe county was between Tomah lawyers—John C. Graham and William C. Gleiss. Both are world war veterans and both ran in the primaries on the republican ticket. Gleiss being nominated. Graham ran as an independent candidate and was defeated by a big majority. The town of Bear Bluff, Jackson county, claims itself the "banter republican town" in the state. It cast fourteen votes on Tuesday last and every one was for Harding and Coolidge. Monroe county is to have a Red Cross nurse the first of the coming year. The services of Miss Sawyer, now employed in Chicago, have been secured. Her headquarters will be at Sparta and she will serve the entire county until present plans to secure an additional nurse can be perfected. For five years Monroe county has been trying to vote a public nurse.

MINISTER-SLAYER SPIRITED AWAY TO ESCAPE MOB RIOT

WINDSOR, Ont.—Whether Rev. Joel Spracklin, minister and prohibition enforcement leader, must stand trial for the slaying of Beverly Trumble, following a raid on the latter's inn Saturday may be known Monday night. The inquest into Trumble's death was continued here today. Officers early today were searching for "Ed Smith," who is said to have seen the shooting and who is expected to testify whether Trumble was armed when he was killed. Rev. Spracklin is in Chatham, Ont. He was spirited from the jail Sunday when officers heard that an attempt at violence was being planned by certain friends of Trumble. Feeling ran high in the border towns Sunday. Much was made of statements by Spracklin that he and his men had entered the hotel through a window when they learned a fight had taken place inside the building. Previous to the inquest Spracklin had been quoted as saying he and his men entered the hotel through the front door.

We Increase Factory Production

A young man in our organization can tell any manufacturer exactly how to increase the output of his plant 8% to 35%.

This young man does not pretend to know—and does not presume to tell—anything very definite about your business. But he does know his business, which is the stimulating of factory production by the scientific use of light.

Behind this young man of ours, supporting him with data, advice and personal co-operation, is the largest, strongest and most successful organization of lighting experts in the world.

So when this young man states that a certain department of your plant can definitely increase its output, he tells what a dozen or a hundred or perhaps a thousand plants have done under similar conditions. There is no theory or guesswork about it.

Julius Andrae & Sons Co. have organized their industrial lighting department as a service to buyers of

BRYAN-MARSH LAMPS

We are not content merely to sell lamps. On the contrary, we believe it a duty to insure the proper and profitable use of the lamps sold.

All agents for Bryan-Marsh Lamps in this locality are authorized to offer the services of Andrae experts to any manufacturer who desires to increase the output of his plant.

Money can't buy a greater luxury or surer way to beauty

The easy way to beauty in a simple cake of soap

HOW do you keep your face clean? Do you give it a hasty daily washing with any old soap? Or do you perhaps depend on cold cream to remove dirt and dust? Either method is dangerous and invites bad results.

Careless washing makes the skin rough and coarse. Yet complexions get soft and flabby without the tonic of water.

The secret is—make washing your face a real beauty treatment. How—by using Palmolive Soap, the beautifying cleanser.

The Palmolive lather is so mild that it cleanses without irritation, no matter how sensitive is your skin.

Profuse and creamy, it penetrates every tiny pore, removing the dirt, dust and oil secretions, which, when neglected, clog and irritate. Apply Palmolive Cold Cream and apply it liberally. If your skin is dry, use it both before and after washing.

Palmolive is the scientific modern combination of the Palm and Olive oils Cleopatra used. It is the favorite facial soap of millions who have learned that while you pay more you can't buy better.

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

PALMOLIVE

Why doesn't it cost more?

Because the Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the demand. Because the rare Palmolive ingredients are bought in enormous quantities. Thus the price of Palmolive is kept moderate—no more than for ordinary soap. It can be enjoyed by every woman and procured everywhere.

LEST WE FORGET

OUR ancestors gathered in carnival spirit to see faces or unfortunates cast into dens of wild beasts. Fine ladies turned down slender thumbs to the appeals of prostrate gladiators. But today we outlaw cockfighting. We've come a long way.

However, we're still somewhat "hard boiled." Last Tuesday a broken man sat in a wheelchair and heard the verdict by which the country, for which he had sacrificed health and none knows how many years of life, overwhelmingly repudiated him.

He heard the nation cheer the surging feet which trampled upon the empty husk of "the man who was."

War had swept the world. Civilization was at stake. Chained by precedent, enslaved by dogma, the nations fought blindly. The conflict was instinctive, its terms unshaped, its motives confusion. Lacking spiritual guidance, the peoples plunged on toward chaos.

This man came upon the battlefield. He lifted high the torch of enlightened policy. He formulated the issue upon moral and humane grounds to which Christian society could subscribe. The world thanked him for the word that nerved its arm and steered its sword. The khaki crusade swept over the seas to victory. Yesterday civilization turned to this man who had been a tower of strength when darkness was settling and morale shattered. His own country cheered him as the new liberator of mankind.

Tuesday he fell before millions of daggers of distrust and ridicule, and there was wide acclaim.

"But yesterday the word of Caesar might have stood against the world. Now lies he there, and none so poor to do him reverence".

What had happened? The covenant—the damned covenant! The people did not agree with him upon the details of the method by which the fruition of victory was to be safeguarded. The thousand discontents which follow war had picked their victim. The face of Pilate was inscrutable. The Judases kissed him, and the cross was raised.

Let us lay aside for the moment the covenant and the treaty, forgetting our impressions of their soundness and practicability. Let us look only at what was in this man's mind.

That there should be no more war—never another war—was the goal toward which Woodrow Wilson strove.

To what nobler service than this could any man have aspired? To what more sacred cause could the citizen have devoted his life?

The righteousness of it inspired his declaration that America was "too proud to fight". It was his thought when he made that splendid plea for "peace without victory". The philosophy upon which it must rest was formulated in his "fourteen points" which in the hour of consecration the nations accepted with too soon passing fervor. In every move he made, in every word he uttered, the substitution of law and reason for crime and warfare was uppermost.

Grant imperfections in the machinery that was created, grant his own failure to make it what it might have been, grant his inability to lift the issue above political considerations, grant everything his opponents say of it, if you will yet who can deny the solemn fact that Woodrow Wilson fought for the greatest boom that could come to mankind; fought until he fell in the service of that cause! What if the gift of execution was not his, shall we forget that it was he who awoke the conscience of the world? Does any man doubt that permanent peace has been brought appreciably nearer by the spiritual ministry of the president?

We do not debate the issue of the covenant. Currents in the flood of Wilson's defeat seem to flow from popular judgment that it contained defects which must be remedied. He chose to stand or fall upon the text he gave us, and he need not complain because a majority disagreed.

Honest adverse criticism was the part of statesmanship for those who entertained adverse convictions. That the debate might have spared a sick man much that was unkind may be excused as merely the emphasis of a period of unusual disturbance. But is there not today in the national attitude a lack of discrimination which ignores the great moral value represented by this man? Are not we showing a calloused indifference to one to whom the world is greatly indebted? In the hour of a new decision are we not in danger of too soon forgetting the great war president dying for peace in the White House?

From his invalid's chair President Wilson has telegraphed President-elect Harding tendering him the use of the presidential yacht and a warship for his proposed trip to Panama. It was a little touch of that kindness which makes the whole world kin. Perhaps it may serve to remind us pleasantly of one whom posterity will not forget. What details are practical and what are not is important, but the links of history are forged in the material of great minds, great hearts and great enterprises.

OUR DAY

HAVING done all the following things upon a certain day, Carroll, in fantastic verse, explains:

For 'twas my day to walk
And 'twas my day to talk
With a cow and calf,
And a pig and a half,
And a thimblebig,
And a bumblebee big,
And that's how I came to go.

Which may have meant—if Carroll ever means anything—that whatever we do of sense or nonsense is a matter of predestination. Many reasons are advanced for the defeat of Governor Cox last Tuesday, but the fatalist says he was defeated because fate had decreed that Tuesday was his day for defeat.

Anyway, economists declare that this is our day to go to work, and big labor leaders coincide. Chicago building trades have agreed upon a period of eighteen months in building to be uninterrupted by strikes. The country has been waiting until "after election", accepting a psychological tip that wheels will spin and production hum because the party label on the White House door has been changed. Tennyson relates how, after the household had slept 100 years, the Fairy Prince discovered the Sleeping Beauty, and

A touch, a kiss! The charm was snapt.
There rose a sound of striking clocks.
And feet that ran, and doors that clapt.
And barking dogs, and crowing cocks.
The maid and page resumed their strife.
The palace band'd and buzz'd and clapt.
And all the long-pent stream of life
Dashed downward in a cataract.

Collective impulses often come from small things in a state of mind, as for instance, a kiss or an election. The notion that the country is about to peel its coat with Harding and do a day's work every day is deep-set in the national psychology of the moment. The election expressed a tremendous impulse and a profound conviction. It turned to republican administration with the assurance of instinct that in that direction lay prosperity, and when a great people starts out in pursuit of prosperity it rolls up its sleeves. "We've spent a good deal of time whittling speculatively over ways and means to legislate a workless welfare, but in the sound bottom of our intelligence we have known all along that product and labor are inseparable. We're about to give up walks and thingamajigs and again make the land bang and buzz and clack with the echoes of sober-headed industry."

DAVID'S HOUSE

BY KATE EDMONDS

The sound of hammer and saw rang across the hills and valleys of Littleford. People who heard it said to one another: "David Brown is building his house."

That was when the house was started. Suddenly, the sound of hammer and saw was stilled and the stinging windows, unflushed by the wind with tarred paper and the little building—unpainted, incomplete, was closed and left alone. David Brown had gone to war.

The women who met at each others' homes and worked for the Red Cross wondered because Alice Carson was so cheerful. They knew she was worried about David because he had been in some of the hardest fought and won battles in France, but always she kept up her courage and her high endeavor never faltered, although there were griefs at home. That last year of the war her father had died, and Alice had taken over his small but established real estate and insurance business. "I worked for father so long that he knew I could understand it," she told people, and she proved a formidable competitor to the other dealers in her locality.

"That Green girl got some git up and git to her," said one of them, with admiration, and after that his admiration ripened into love and he wanted to marry Alice Carson, but she smiled gently and shook her head.

"I'm engaged to David Brown," she said amiably.

"I'm engaged to David Brown," she said amiably. "He won't let me come home, and if he does he might not be able to support you—suppose he'd be crippled and helpless?" "I would still be engaged to him," returned the girl proudly.

One day there came the news. David Brown was coming home—crippled for life. He wrote Alice a letter, releasing her from their engagement. "Dear girl," he said, "I don't know what I shall do in the future—sell the little house I made for you, and start a newstart or something."

Alice cried and kissed the letter. "Dear old thing," she thought, "I must think I'm afraid to face the future with him! I am so proud of his valor that I could shoot the news from the house!" "I must do it," she thought, "I must think I'm afraid to face the future with him! I am so proud of his valor that I could shoot the news from the house!"

"Alice did that and more, David said, and once more people heard the sound of hammer and saw on the hillside, and they told each other breathlessly that Alice Carson was building the house that David began—she wears overalls—and she mounts a ladder and paints the house! It was all true, but as she worked with her hand and her mind, she would allow a man to lift something heavy, but she did the actual work, clumsily, it is true, but as her hand moved with tears in his eyes, "I wouldn't care if the roof was thatched, if a woman loved him enough to do that for me!"

The townspeople had turned out, there was a parade in his honor, headed by a brass band and a committee of welcome. The houses were gay with flags and bunting, and the streets under the wheels of the automobile that bore him down the village street. David, pale after long months of hospital life, looked very handsome in his uniform. On his breast were medals of honor and faded ribbons won through many campaigns. He smiled and waved his hand, and again, but nowhere in the crowd did he see the face he loved—the face of the girl he had voluntarily released from her engagement to him. His mouth became bitter and cynical. He had hoped through everything that Alice would not give him up—almost, any girl would have quailed at the thought of marrying a cripple, but—his eyes suddenly blurred.

The crowd had dispersed in front of the town hall with a dull cheer for their wounded hero and the automobile was bearing him on through the village. His body was end years in hospital life, and he had only a sister in the next village—he would go to her tonight; she was expecting him.

"Where are you taking me?" he asked of Judge Brand, in whose car he was riding. The minister sat opposite, beaming mildly upon him. "Where are we going," said the judge, but they passed the judge's handsome house and swung around a corner that led up over the hill road where David had been building his house when the war very sounded four years before.

"Please—stop around this way," pointed David, but if they heard they did not heed, for presently the car swung down from the highway and mounted the incline that led up to David's house. Was it David's house? He rubbed his eyes and pinched himself to make sure he was not dreaming. Low and white and cool with green painted blinds and a green-striped awning over the front porch. Window boxes with geraniums—a lawn and flowers—small trees—and a small wing at one side with a separate path and entrance and over the door a swinging sign!

Estate Manager.

"What does it mean, Judge?" he asked humbly.
"Nothing," only Alice, she's been keeping the home fires burning, David; and she finished the house with her own hands, bless 'em! And she's kept her father's business for you and all his old clients, so you can be as independent as—"

"Then she still cares?" David asked with his hands over his wet eyes.
"Look for yourself," said the judge; and David looked and saw her come flying down the path to meet him. Alice, vigorous, gloriously beautiful in her young womanhood, radiant with love, and he got out of the car and limped to meet her.

"Remember, David," hinted the minister, "the wedding guests are assembled in the house and I'm waiting to tie the knot."

David lifted an awed face. "God

DARK SECRET FOR BAB, GHOSTS AT PINE CREST

BY ELIZABETH STEELE
(First Day of Story, "The Shade of Heczekiah Applegate")

"Well, I've been disciplined again, but it was worth it."

"It all began over Bab and Babe—we were in the same tent this year at camp. It was their first year at Pine Crest and they were nervous about sleeping alone, especially in the lower bunks. So every night after 'lights out' had sounded and the 'Owl'—that's Miss Kennedy, our physical director this year—had done inspection the girls climbed into the upper bunk with me. Every time an owl sang or screeched or whatever you call it, they would moan and hide under the covers."

"By Thursday, I was pretty much disgusted. Just to show them how foolish they were I determined to give them something to be frightened about. While they were in swimming in the afternoon, I dug out of my trunk an empty sardine tin left from our last feed and put some stones in it. I tied a spool on a string and put it in the can too, and then I hid the can under Louise Collingwood's bunk—she had the lower under mine. I concealed the string along the side of the tent and up under my pillow, where I could reach it easily."

"We were late for supper as usual, but as we raced up the hill, I managed to tell Bab that I had a piece of news for her but that she must keep it a dark secret. Just to mention 'secret' to Bab was enough to make

"I didn't enlarge upon the details because I knew she could do that, and I guess she did, because her eyes simply stuck out and I saw her whispering to Bab about five minutes later in a corner of the veranda."

STUDY HELPS

It is customary in almost all colleges nowadays to require students to choose a certain major subject and stick to it throughout the whole course. This is the subject to which the most time and study are to be concentrated.

Such an arrangement of study is logical. The most successful man is the one who knows something about all things and all about something. It is well to apply this principle to school work.

Whether or not your school or your teacher insists on your choosing a major study, you should do it nevertheless. Take the one you like best, the one you think you will use most later on. Learn all there is to be learned about it.

It isn't necessary to neglect the others to do this.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

Henry W. Longfellow
Dear Papa:
I have been to school all week and got only seven marks. I shall have a billet next Monday. I wish you to buy me a drum.

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.
When Henry's father came back from Boston he brought the drum. Henry unwrapped it with eager fingers, and, oh, how proud he was of it! It was larger and had brighter colors than the other boys' drums.

But Henry did not like noise. He did not beat his drum. Just to hang it up, where he could look at it and admire it, was pleasure enough for him.

Perhaps it was his love for beauty rather than noise that made Henry W. Longfellow a great poet.

Why Troco is the Fancy Brand

Three good reasons

It is made in a brand new plant, built to laboratory standards,

—From super-fine materials,

—By A. E. Hoffman, famous butter and milk expert.

For over 30 years Mr. Hoffman has made butter, judged butter and taught butter-making in leading dairy schools.

All his skill and knowledge, backed by every possible mechanical facility, are now devoted to producing perfected Troco.

All milk used in churning Troco comes from selected herds. It is twice pasteurized.

Pure, tasteless, odorless neutral fat, expressed from the whole meat of coconuts, is the base of Troco.

When this pure, appetizing vegetable fat is churned with pure, pasteurized milk in which the most delicate and sweetest butter flavor has been developed, the result is perfected Troco.

The quality of Troco is standardized by the method employed in the making. It is impossible to meet competition with cut prices. You may have to pay a few cents more to enjoy Troco.

Calls on Party to Bury Past Differences and Forget Recent Campaign

WASHINGTON.—Another move toward reorganization of the democratic party was made here Sunday by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the speakers' bureau during the campaign, who issued a statement calling on his fellow democrats to "bury all past differences and forget about the recent campaign."
"The democratic party is not dead," he said. "It has only received a temporary setback and will make itself felt every day of every session of congress until the next election rolls around."
As to party reorganization, Mr. Harrison said: "I believe that there should be changes in the permanent organization of the democratic party. I do not mean by that that Chairman George White should not be retained as chairman of the national committee. No one could have done better than he did under the circumstances."

YOUNG MOTHER IS SLAIN BY BULLET FROM POLICE GUN

NEW YORK.—The funeral Monday of young and pretty Mrs. Dolores Difilio, was one of the handsomest that the East Side has seen in a long time. And next to Frank Difilio, her war hero husband, perhaps the most disconsolate of the mourners who followed the snow-banked hearse with its six snow-white horses, was Patrolman Jim Kenny, by whose hand she had been accidentally killed.
Dolores, herself a Red Cross worker during the war—left her new baby Saturday to go on a short errand. As she crossed the street, a bullet fired by Patrolman Kenny at a thief who had stolen a carton of cigarettes, struck her down.
Aghast, the patrolman had the dying woman rushed to a hospital, but she never regained consciousness. Then, to soften the blow as much as he could for Frank—and to ease his own breast—Kenny started a subscription to provide for the funeral and leave a nest egg for the motherless baby.

SHORTHORN SALE WILL BE STAGED AT WEST SALEM

First Annual Event to Have Wide Representation of Cattle on Wednesday

The first annual pure bred Shorthorn cattle sale will be held at West Salem November 10, at 1 p. m., in the county sales pavilion. The following will send animals to the sale: G. Marco & Sons, La Crosse, Wis.; Stanley F. Miller, Lodi, Wis.; Eben E. Jones, Rockland, Wis.; C. M. Herr & Son, Lodi, Wis.; Griswold Bros., Livingston, Wis.; Chas. Rogers & Sons, Union Center, Wis.; H. B. Drake & Son, Beaver Dam, Wis.; Williams Bros., Bangor, Wis.; R. Maurer & Sons, Fox Lake, Wis.; Bert E. Davis, Bangor, Wis.; Wm. M. Smith, West Branch, Iowa; Herr Bros. & Reynolds, Lodi, Wis.; C. J. Miller, Lodi, Wis.

BY G. W. VERGERONT
For a great many years La Crosse county has held a definite and substantial position in the Shorthorn world; ever since the early sixties when the Morgan horse replaced the Devon oxen as beasts of burden, there were but two classes for pure-bred cattle at our fairs. These classes covered Devons, Durhams and natives; all Shorthorns, being classified as Durhams at that time. During the last decade the herds of Eben Jones, Rockland; Will Hartley, La Crosse; Gideon Marco of the same place, and Williams Bros. of Bangor have been developing more than state-wide reputations. The first-named has been an exhibitor at the state fairs and the international for many years; last year he won first on aged cow and aged bull at Wisconsin State fair and many other fairs and shows. At one of the national sales he sold a cow, Verbeem of Oakdale, and her baby bull calf for about two thousand dollars; two years later this bull calf sold at auction for $10,800. Herr Brothers and Reynolds of Lodi have been constant exhibitors at all Shorthorn shows as well as at the last Interstate fair where we had one of the best Red, Roan and white shows of the year. It was from this herd that Gideon Marco picked his herd bull Royal Ruby, a brother to the grand champion Shorthorn cow of the 1918 International. In addition to the above men that sell in the sale, we have a more recent breeder of Scotch cattle, in Harrison Stordant of West Salem, who is offering some of his best.
Come out and see these aristocratic members of what the Shorthorn people claim to be the oldest breed of cattle. At any rate, to be a breeder of Scotch cattle necessitates the memorization of the fact that Collings Brothers began to improve this breed at the time of our revolutionary war.

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry?"
Mildred Harris Chaplin in "The Inferior Sex"
Mary Miles Minter in "Rosemary Climbs the Heights"
The "Stranger" with an exceptional cast.
Tom Moore in "Stop Thief!"
Mildred Harris in "The Virgin of Stamboul" and Priscilla Dean.

RIVOLI
Another heavy automobile romance serves as the latest starring vehicle for Wallace Reid. This time it is "What's Your Hurry?" and the picture opened a three days' run at the Rivoli theater yesterday.
Starting out as a professional race pilot, the star shifts to motor racing when the father of a certain Virginia makes it clear to him that he does not fancy a publicity man as a son-in-law.
Wallace Reid proves somewhat of a "driver." Finally the breaking of a big irrigation dam, threatening disaster to hundreds, gives him the big opportunity. By mobilizing a fleet of trucks and leading them to the scene of the danger, he is able to save the dam and win the girl, besides.
"Kiss Me, Caroline," a Christie comedy starring Bobby Vernon and a Ray Photograph showing life at the bottom of the ocean completes an interesting and entertaining program.

MAJESTIC
Just at this time, when so much is being said in the daily papers about Charlie Chaplin, his wife and their divorce case, it would seem rather an appropriate time to present to the patrons of the Majestic Mrs. Chaplin's latest picture, "The Inferior Sex," said to be the case and the picture opened yesterday at that theater.
Mildred Harris Chaplin is starred in a picture drama of love, marriage and intrigue, the vital problems of every man and woman today. It is a story of a beautiful society girl, who, after a brief courtship, marries the man she loves. The husband who once eternal love began to slip after they had been married a short time and seek consolation elsewhere. The strange plot the wife contrived to win back his love and the thrilling adventures she experienced in carrying out her plan touch on the all absorbing problems of domestic life. The results will thrill and surprise everyone. "The Inferior Sex" is the best picture Mrs. Chaplin ever made.
A Harold Lloyd comedy entitled "Haunted Spooks" completes the program.
Starting tomorrow for five days, Codi B. DeMille's late sensation, "Why Change Your Wife?" with Gloria Swanson, Thomas Meighan and Bebe Daniels.

BIJOU
Tom Moore returns in "Stop Thief!" at the Bijou for today and tomorrow. "Stop Thief!" is a perfect farce and gives Tom Moore a wonderful role, as the light fingered Dugan, whose underworld exploits are rumored in a halo of humor. He gives a performance that will stand out in bold relief on a career of success.
A bathing girl comedy entitled, "Sea Side Sirens," with an all star cast of Christie players, completes the program.

CASINO
The soul of the artist will delight in the beautiful scenery of "The Stranger" which opened at the Bijou theater yesterday.
Beatrice La Plante, the French actress, charming and appealing little figure wins the heart of all from the very start. As Betty Lago, the brave little girl who battles against odds and comes out victorious, she has a role well suited to her unusual personality.
The "Stranger," played by Mildred Harris, is a good, strong character holder to his purpose in spite of all obstacles until he accomplishes it. His purpose and identity are cloaked in mystery until the final disclosure. This is very well done, keeping up the spectator's interest, but never tiring him as so many mystery stories are apt to do.
Don Parks, a dance hall girl with a soul—a new phase of the type. As a whole, "The Stranger" possesses elements which appeal to all ages; children will delight in the au-mal; small boys are bound to grow excited over the thrilling pursuit down the creek bed; girls will adore the handsome hero and lovable heroine, and more mature minds will revel in the beautiful settings and be intrigued by the mystery and the solution of the problem involved.

RIVIERA
Mary Miles Minter in "Rosemary Climbs the Heights," will be the attraction at the Riviera today. This little lady needs no introduction to the picture fans and it is enough to say that this picture is one of the best she has made in some time.
Episode 15 of the "Vanishing Dagger" completes the bill.

THREE WISE FOOLS COMES THURSDAY

One of the greatest charms of Austin Strong's delightful comedy, "Three Wise Fools," which will be seen at the La Crosse Theater Thursday Nov. 14th, with the original company after a run of nearly a year on Broadway, is the mastery with which the producer, John Golden, selected the cast that was to present it. No finer example of how to choose the difficult art of casting a play has been seen on Broadway or in Chicago in many seasons.
From Claude Gillingwater, who was trained by David Belasco, down to the humble players who have only "bits," each selection shows the result of taste and judgment on the part of the producer. Nor were the actors chosen on the ground of either cleverness or of "type," but were picked for just the right blend of appearance and ability. Mr. Gillingwater, who is the director of the trio of "wise" men, had a repertoire of 57 parts when he was only 17 years old. This varied experience picked up with day-by-day repertoire companies in the Middle West, was responsible for getting him a chance with David Belasco when he ventured to New York. For 3 years he was with Belasco supporting Blanche Bates, Mrs. Leslie Carter and other stars. Later he entered musical comedy and appeared with such stars as Fritz Schott and Montgomery and Stone.

The role of the doctor is acted by Harry Davenport, brother of the famous Fanny Davenport, and son of E. L. Davenport, the great tragedian. He has played with most of America's great stars and has always sustained the glowing traditions of his illustrious family name.
The third "cool" is played by Howard Gould, who makes a lovable and dignified Judge. Mr. Gould began his stage career by becoming call-boy at the old Boston Museum. From that lowly beginning he rose to be leading man with James O'Neill with whom he played for nine years.
The lesser roles are played as intelligently and as earnestly as the leading ones by actors who are well-trained and capable. For Mr. Golden believes that good casting is a good play and doubles the audience's enjoyment, and that bad casting has sometimes ruined an excellent play.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA
Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief. Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

BASEBALL CLUBS IN SESSION TO DECIDE FOR PEACE OR WAR

Reorganization of National Commission to be Deciding Factor

ELEVEN BASEBALL CLUBS IN SESSION AT CHICAGO

Repeat Threat of Formation of Twelve Club League

CHICAGO, Ill.—Owners of the major league baseball clubs were in session here today to decide for peace or war in major league baseball, with reorganization of the national commission as the deciding factor.

Members of the eight National League clubs and the Chicago, Boston and New York American league clubs had extended until 10 o'clock today their ultimatum to the other five American league clubs on adoption of the Lasker plan for a new commission or a declaration of war.

President Johnson of the American League summoned all the American league clubs to meet at 9 o'clock. When the "ultimatum" was issued here October 18 Johnson declared he would approve no plan until after the Cook county baseball grand jury had reported and a counter-proposition was issued by the "loyal five," but the eleven National and American league clubs at an informal session voted to stick by their former position with the threat of a new twelve club league repeated.

Opposition to the plan by President Johnson and the Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, and St. Louis clubs, apparently is based on the belief that professional baseball should not be taken out of the control of the club owners, managers and players. The Cook county grand jury's report stated that the grand jury believed the men now controlling baseball could keep it above suspicion, and the Johnson forces apparently share this belief, although they have said they were not opposed to some form of reorganization.

Lasker Plan

The Lasker plan would choose three nationally prominent men who would have jurisdiction of the national pastime. In the long conferences held yesterday by both factions, it was known the national league and three American league owners discussed plans to avert a war, but remained steadfast in their determination to form the twelve team league should the other teams refuse to come in.

No little interest was manifested in the meeting of minor league club owners in Kansas City tomorrow. It

STAGG TO INVENTORY HIS CRIPPLES TODAY FOR MICHIGAN GAME

Maroons Fight Hard Battle to Keep Zupke's Crew from Scoring Touchdown

CHICAGO, Ill.—Today will be inventory on Stagg field, where Coach Stagg will take a squint at the hospital list to see how many men are ailing and must be on the sidelines for the games with Michigan next Saturday at Ann Arbor.

The Midway was immensely pleased with the showing of its team which was so riddled with injuries that most of the critics thought Illinois would make from two to five touchdowns. Instead, the Maroons fought their best game this season, and kept Zupke's veteran backfield from a touchdown, the first time that Illinois has failed to cross the goal line in a game for three years.

Line Players Commended

The work of the line came in for special commendation. Capt. Jackson and McGuire fought hard every minute. Both were hurt, but Jackson stuck to the finish, and McGuire lasted three quarters. Lewis, another good tackle, who is equal to any guard on the team, but is saved until the game has gone a half, to have a man to replace either of the regular tackles, did some great work in breaking up the Illinois' smashing game.

At center George Hartong, Stagg's new center, held Capt. Depler the all-conference downstate man, almost even, often getting through and stopping plays before they started. He was knocked out three times, and the last time had to be carried off the field.

Illini Testify to Defense

Redman was on crutches after the battle, and it almost sure to be out of the Michigan game. Director George Huff of Illinois said after the game that Illinois found it harder to gain through Chicago than any opponent this season.

The end problem will worry Stagg this week. Neither Hinkle nor Halladay was able to start the game, and both found the going too rough to finish. Halladay looked badly crippled. With a bare hope that Crisler can return for the Michigan combat, Strohmeyer is the only first string end in shape.

Gene Rouse, halfback, also had to be carried from the field, and it is doubtful if he will be in trim for many days, taking away another halfback from the already riddled offensive machine.

Old Maroons to Aid Team
Former Maroon football players will assemble at Stagg field on Tuesday to help encourage the team in its development for the Michigan game. The old timers will have dinner with the squad at one of the fraternity houses, and all angles of the game will be discussed. Coach Stagg is eager to have as many old players present as possible. Seats for the Michigan game will be on sale today at Barlett gymnasium, but all unsold tickets will be returned to Ann Arbor tonight. Every seat except this small block has been sold for two weeks.

TO FIGHT PRELIMS TO DECIDE BENNY LEONARD'S MATCH

NEW YORK.—Selection of six light weight boxers to fight through a series of elimination bouts to decide who will meet Benny Leonard, for the lightweight title here on November 28 was the subject of a conference today between Tex Rickard, promoter and Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager.

Among the possible aspirants considered were Lew Tendler of Philadelphia, Willie Jackson, who recently defeated Eddie Fitzsimmons; Johnny Dundee, of New York; Joe Welling of Chicago, and Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee.

TILDEN WINS OVER JOHNSTON IN TENNIS MATCH ON COAST

BERKLEY, Cal.—William Tilden Jr. Philadelphia, tennis champion, defeated William Johnston, San Francisco, former champion, 11-9, in one set of a scheduled match here today. Tilden and Johnston are members of the American Davis cup team enroute to Australia.

BIG STEEL FREIGHTER BRINGS NEAR TWO MILLION

WASHINGTON.—Sale of the 9,400 deadweight ton steel cargo steamer, Charles M. Crump, to the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Steamship company of Baltimore for $1,739,000, was announced today by the shipping board.

SCORES GEORGIAN

DANVILLE.—Centre College may be the next school to follow Vanderbilt and Pitt in severing relations with Georgia Tech. Centre alleges that the Georgians use rough tactics.

TWO CAPTAINS

URBANA, Ill.—The Illinois football team finds itself with two captains since the reinstatement of Kopp, former captain of the team. Depler is the other captain.

ILLINI THINK TEAM IS 10 TO 0 BETTER THAN STAGG CREW

Zupke Admits He Must Inject Punch in Order to Conquer Wisconsin

URBANA, Ill.—The Illinois football squad returned today from its successful invasion of Stagg field, apparently in fairly good shape despite the hard battle. That Zupke must inject a punch into the eleven if Wisconsin is to be conquered Saturday is conceded.

Most Illini critics feel that a 10 to 0 score would have been a fairer indication of the merits of the embattled eleven on Stagg field, this without any idea of discounting the gallant stand of the Maroons. There were faults in strategy and execution displayed which Zupke knows he must hasten to correct.

On the other hand, it is felt that Illinois was in a ticklish position previous to the game, with outside critics generally boosting Illinois to the skies and depressing Maroon stock, all of which served to create Illini overconfidence and Maroon determination.

Another factor was that Zupke is waging a championship campaign and is perfectly satisfied to slip by each milestone with the least possible expenditure of strength. The close margin of the Maroon victory means that there will be no chestiness on Illinois field this week. It will be a salutary lesson for Depler's men, who were just a trifle too certain of their powers. When some one remarked on their coolness, Zupke retorted that they were too blame cool.

Although Ohio is training for Illinois, there can be no talk of the Buck eyes this week, with Wisconsin looming up.

Director Huff has warned Illinois fans to order their seats for the Ohio State game here. It is predicted that all postboards will be sold before the week is over.

HE'S CONVINCED

CINCINNATI.—Coach Chas. Moran of the Centre eleven, says he doesn't think the Harvard eleven will be beaten this year. Uncle Charles is a convert.

COACHES THE BUNK
BOSTON.—Coach Caranough, of the Boston college eleven, which has trimmed Yale twice, says that coaches are the bunk. It's the players who win football games, he thinks.
